We believe that school meals serve more than food—they serve a purpose. And that purpose is nourishing students’ health and development while inspiring their imaginations and fueling achievement. That’s our “why.”

Working together, we transform school food programs into dynamic meal opportunities that students actually look forward to. Leveraging our proven experience in K-12 dining innovation, we develop thoughtful menus built on USDA standards and deep research into age-specific taste preferences. This way, we help you make sure every student finds what they’re looking for AND gets the nutrition they need to succeed. To keep them coming back for more (and your reimbursement levels high), our talented chefs regularly use fresh, local ingredients and showcase exciting global flavors to enhance food diversity as we nurture curiosity and encourage exploration for students throughout your learning community.
Foundational Food & Nutrition

Designing menus with food choices that taste as good to students as they are good for them is a great way to build the strong foundation students need for a lifetime of well-being, productivity, and achievement.
