"Sodexo is focused on impacting the quality of life for our customers, clients and the communities we both serve. Community businesses are vital to the success of local economies as well as the growth and development of Sodexo. A company our size would miss a huge opportunity if it did not leverage its supply chain," said Sodexo President and CEO, George Chavel. "Sodexo's supplier diversity program goes well beyond simply inviting diverse businesses to compete. We embrace utilizing these innovative suppliers to meet our needs and support the local community. We also see our role as a steward to teach our manufacturers the importance of including diverse suppliers in their supply chain. These efforts support leveling the playing field and in the end bring more innovation to the table to exceed client expectations and encourage growth."
